

CREATING THEIR STYLE

Our aesthetic consisted of geodes, geometric prisms, and winter. This was complemented by a grey and rose gold color palette with pops of teal. We used geodes and cloudy, unpolished crystal quartz everywhere. The place cards were hexagons with rose gold calligraphy on teal watercolor, with crystal quartz stones adhered to them so that the healing/protective crystals could double as personalized giveaways. I couldn't help but place a Sailor Saturn crystal at the guest book table since it went so well with the theme too. Watercolor was first used on our invitation suite and seating chart. We had invites raise printed on heavy linen cardstock. It then became a fun couples' activity for us to hand paint each invite and RSVP card with watercolor.
